

Londonderry Arms Hotel

Carnlough

'Historic hotel in the Glens of Antrim'

Wild West Murder Mystery

Saturday 25th February 2012 @ 7pm

In the Wild West, a man who thinks he owns this town of Dead Gulch is trying to railroad the railroad through everyone's property, and he doesn't care whom he offends. Deke Slayton is his name, while Miss Nelly Sly owns the saloon, where a stranger is back in town. It's Moose Morris, the miner, and he knows well Purity Fawcett, the girl who his old rival Pat Fawcett's daughter. A pity that Pat was a no-good Irish drunk. Meanwhile the reverend Zachariah Smith is selling his spiritual message, and while the sheriff is out of town, the injuns are never far away.

How's your Stetson? Which way does your bandana dress? Are those boots made for walking? Are you fully loaded? Dress down to impress, as this saloon entertains all types just visiting, but not everyone will leave alive.

Enjoy a sumptuous meal and a chance to turn sheriff

For only £35 per person

Or Why not add an overnight stay (inc full Irish Breakfast) for an additional £25 per person sharing

Booking Essential